Interviews That do not Appear in Final Project but were Helpful for Research Purposes:

Elizabeth Chang

- MA in Counseling Psychology. Deconstructed her own faith having been raised in a Christian immigrant home, then worked in the music industry, and now works as a counsellor of those with intense trauma.

Benjamin Birkenstock

- MA student of philosophy familiar with arguments surrounding deconstruction.

Jocelyn Lu

- Raised in a culturally Christian home, now in residency for plastic surgery. Takes science seriously and never had grounds to see Christianity as compelling.

Dylan Lahl

- Brought a Hindu perspective to the conversation of faith.

Kyle Penner

- Philosophy undergraduate student at Trinity Western University

Monica Rawlek

- Philosophy undergraduate student at Trinity Western University

Gina Unruh

- A woman who I happened to meet at a brewery when she overheard me discussing my project who underwent deconstruction at an older age and shared her story with me.
